- CHAPTER REFERRED TO IN OTHER SECTIONS
- This chapter is referred to in sections 1606, 1650, 2106a of this title; title 7 section 6614.
- § 2101. Findings, purpose, and policy
- (a) Findings
- Congress finds that—
- (1) most of the productive forest land of the United States is in private, State, and local governmental ownership, and the capacity of the United States to produce renewable forest resources is significantly dependent on such non-Federal forest lands;
- (2) adequate supplies of timber and other forest resources are essential to the United States, and adequate supplies are dependent on efficient methods for establishing, manag-
